

BOARS' VIEW

SOMETHING NEW
ON THE HORIZON

When we first set foot on the land that is now Boars' View, there were no roads or trails, so we hopped into a rough-tough jeep and scaled the mountain. Once at the top, we gazed across the vista and could not believe our eyes. What laid before us was breathtaking and majestic. The ideal land to grow our Pinot Noir and Chardonnay.

DISTINCTIVELY SONOMA COAST

Boars' View Vineyard, Fort Ross - Seaview

Our vineyard, located off Bohan Dillon Road has more to share, entering its second decade the fruit has matured, our clones continue to express their unique characteristics and we have come to know our rows intimately - knowing which are showered with the rays of the rising sun and which bask in the late afternoon warmth. At Boars' View we also have more to tell, and felt we needed to expand our offerings to reflect the vineyard's continuing evolution.

OUR WINEMAKER

THOMAS RIVERS BROWN

As one of the driving forces in developing the Boars' View vineyard, winemaker Thomas Rivers Brown was instrumental in choosing clones that would yield richly complex and flavorful wines. Over a decade later we are able to choose specific lots from our Mt. Eden and Swan Pinot Noir vines that are bottled for enjoyment upon release.

2019 BOARS' VIEW BDR PINOT NOIR

FORT ROSS - SEAVIEW

For the debut vintage of this wine, we selected specific barrels to create a dark complex Pinot Noir full of fruit, spice and structure. In the glass, this wine exhibits a nearly opaque purple-red hue. Waves of aromas suggest red licorice, pomegranate reduction, pennyroyal mint and lavender oil. The bold, dynamic palate suggests notes of macerated boysenberry, cedar shavings, black cherry, oolong tea and crushed river rock. The entry of this wine starts with a fruit-forward expression and develops more structure and tertiary notes mid-palate, finishing with a pretty, floral quality. This wine is easily enjoyable now with its abundance of fruit and great natural balance and acidity.
